Article 8.-Rules governing shares

A share confers upon its holder the status of shareholder and all the inherent rights and obligations. The pre-emptive subscription right in respect of new shares and bonds that are convertible into shares may be overridden totally or in part by a resolution of the General Meeting or, as the case may be, of the Board of Directors, in the cases and terms permitted by law.

The shares will be indivisible vis-à-vis the company, which will not recognise more than one person for the exercise of the rights of a shareholder. Joint owners of a share must appoint one of them to exercise the rights of shareholder and they will be jointly and severally liable to the company as regard the duties of shareholders.

The shares and the pre-emptive subscription rights are transferable by all legally permitted means.

The transfer thereof and the creation of limited real rights or any other kind of encumbrances must be registered in the corresponding accounting record.

The transfer of shares in the company, which will be free, will take place by accounting transfer. Registration of the transfer to the acquirer in the accounting registry will have the same effects as a conventional delivery of certificates.

The General Meeting may only delegate its powers to the Board of Directors in the cases established by the Act and in these Bylaws. The General Meeting may also empower the Board of Directors, in each specific instance, to determine whether or not the conditions to which the General Meeting has subjected the enforceability of a given resolution have been met.

Section 2 – Organization and functioning of the General Meeting

Article 12.- Types of General Meetings

1. The General Meeting is the duly quorate assembly of a sufficient number of shareholders of the company. General Meetings may be ordinary or extraordinary.

2. An Ordinary General Meeting must be held necessarily within the first six months of each calendar year, in order to grant discharge, approve the financial statements, and decide on the application of income, notwithstanding its power to deliberate and resolve on any other matter on the agenda.

3. Any Meeting other than that described in the preceding paragraph will be deemed to be an Extraordinary General Meeting.
4. General Meetings will be governed by the law, the Bylaws and a specific regulation which may contemplate all matters pertaining to the General Meeting. The regulation will be reported to the National Securities Market Commission and will be registered in the Mercantile Registry.

Article 13.-Power to call General Meetings

1. The Board of Directors may call both ordinary and extraordinary General Meetings.
2. The Board of Directors must call a General Meeting when:
 - a. Requested by shareholders who own at least three per cent (3%) of share capital. Any such request must indicate the items of business to be transacted at the Meeting. A General Meeting must also be called within the two months following the date on which the request has been made before a notary public to the directors to call the meeting, in which case the Agenda must of necessity include the items of business to which the request referred.
 - b. A tender offer for shares of the company has been made which has not received a favourable report from the Board of Directors.
3. If the Ordinary General Meeting has not been called within the legal term, it can be called, at the request of any shareholder, by the Judge of the Commercial Court in the jurisdiction of the company's registered address, after first giving the directors the opportunity to state their case. Likewise, an Extraordinary General Meeting must be called whenever so requested by the number of shareholders referred to in section 2.a) above, or pursuant to section 2.b).

Article 14.- Announcement of the General Meeting

1. The General Meeting, whether ordinary or extraordinary, must be called by means of an announcement published at least one month before the scheduled date. The announcement must be disseminated using at least the following media:
 - a) the Official Bulletin of the Mercantile Register, or one of the daily newspapers with the largest circulation in Spain.
 - b) the website of the National Securities Market Commission (CNMV) website, and
 - c) the company's website.
2. The announcement must state the date of the meeting at first call and all of the items of business to be transacted, as well as any other information required by law. The notice of meeting may indicate the date of the Meeting at second call, as appropriate. There must be at least twenty-four hours between the first and second call dates.
3. For Ordinary General Meetings and any others provided for by law, the announcement must further include the mandatory disclosures about the right to examine at the registered office of the company, to consult on the Company website and to obtain, immediately and free of charge, the documents that must be submitted for approval at the meeting and any report(s) required by law.
4. If the General Meeting is called to decide on any issue that requires a higher quorum in accordance with these Bylaws, the notice must state which items require the higher quorum for deliberation and voting.
5. The announcement must be signed by a person with the power to certify Board of Directors' resolutions.
6. Shareholders representing at least three per cent (3%) of share capital can request the publication of a supplement to the notice of an Ordinary General Meeting such as to add one or more items of business, provided that the new items of business are accompanied by a justification or a reasoned motion, as appropriate. The shareholders who wish to exercise that right must send such supplement by certifiable means and it must be received at the company's registered offices within five days from publication of the notice of meeting.

The supplement to the meeting notice must be published at least fifteen days prior to the scheduled date of the General Meeting.

Failure to publish the supplement to the notice within the legally provided term constitutes a cause for challenging the General Meeting.

Shareholders representing at least three per cent (3%) of share capital, can, within the same term provided for in paragraph 2 of this section, submit reasoned motions concerning the items of business already included on, or which ought to be on, the Agenda of the meeting that has been called. The motions presented and any accompanying documentation will also be published on the company's website in accordance with the law.

7. When the company offers the shareholders the effective option of voting via electronic means available to all shareholders, Extraordinary General Meetings may be called with advance notice of at least 15 days. The reduction in the deadline for the notice of meeting will require express adoption by the Ordinary General Meeting by at least two-thirds of subscribed capital with voting rights, and will be valid only until the date of the next meeting.

8. The provisions of this article will be null and void if a legal provision imposes other requirements for General Meetings that transact specific matters, in which case the specific provisions must be observed.

Article 15.- Right to information

1. As of the day of publication of the notice of a General Meeting and up to the fifth day before the scheduled date of the meeting at first call, shareholders can request, in writing, information or clarifications that they deem necessary, or can ask any questions they deem appropriate, about the items of business on the Agenda and about information available to the general public that has been provided by the company to National Securities Market Commission (CNMV) since the last General Meeting, and about the auditor's report.

2. During the course of a General Meeting, shareholders can verbally request the reports or clarifications that they deem appropriate about the items of business on the Agenda.

3. The Directors must supply the requested information, except where it is unnecessary to safeguard the shareholder's rights or there are objective reasons to believe it may be used for purposes unrelated to the Company or that its disclosure might be detrimental to the company or to related companies. If the request is supported by shareholders representing at least one-quarter of share capital, the information may not be withheld.

4. The information requested pursuant to the first paragraph will be provided in writing up until the day of the General Meeting. That which is requested at the General Meeting will be provided during the course of same or, where it proves impossible for the directors to honour the shareholder's right at that moment in time, it will be provided in writing within seven days from the end of the General Meeting.

Valid requests for information and clarifications, and questions made in writing and the answers given in writing by the directors, will be posted on the company's website.

5. The company will have a corporate website, the address of which is www.acciona.es, where it will post and make available to shareholders and investors the relevant documents and information required by law at any given time.

The Board of Directors can resolve to amend, remove or transfer the website under the terms established by law.

Article 16.- Universal Meeting

1. The General Meeting will be valid to deliberate on any matter, with no need for prior notice convening it, provided that all the share capital is present or represented thereat and those present agree unanimously to hold the meeting and accept the agenda.
2. Universal Meetings may be held at any place in national territory or abroad.

Article 17.- Quorum of the General Meeting

1. The General Meeting, whether ordinary or extraordinary, will be deemed quorate at first call when the shareholders present or represented by proxy own at least twenty-five per cent (25%) of the subscribed voting capital. At second call, the Meeting will be quorate regardless of the percentage of capital in attendance.

2. Notwithstanding the above:

(i) The General Meeting requires a quorum of sixty-seven per cent (67%) of subscribed voting capital at first call, or sixty-two per cent (62%) at second call, in order to decide on any of the following matters:

a) Amendments to the Bylaws, apart from the change of registered office, capital increases, broadening of the corporate purpose, and capital reductions, where required by law.

b) Change of corporate form, merger, demerger, liquidation or dissolution of the company, except in the event that the dissolution is obligatory in accordance with the law.

(ii) With regard to a change in registered office, capital increase, broadening of the corporate purpose, overriding or limiting the pre-emptive subscription right, issuance of debentures or bonds, when the General Meeting is empowered to do so, the issuance of warrants or options (alone or linked to debentures) and of preference shares, and a capital reduction, where required by law, the General Meeting will be quorate at first call when sixty-seven per cent (67%) of the subscribed voting capital is in attendance and, at second call, when fifty per cent (50%) of the subscribed voting capital is in attendance.

The same percentages as are established in the preceding paragraph will apply when, in the cases of a capital increase or the issuance of debentures, bonds, warrants or preference shares, the General Meeting grants authorisation to or delegates the power to pass such resolutions to the Board of Directors.

3. If the quorum reached is sufficient to decide on certain items on the Agenda but not on others, the General Meeting will deliberate and resolve solely on those matters for which there is a sufficient quorum.

4. Any absences that arise once the General Meeting has been declared quorate will not affect the quorum.

Article 18.- Authority to attend

1. All shareholders whose shares, with the time in advance established by the Act, are registered in the corresponding accounting record in accordance with the Securities Market legislation, and other applicable legal provisions, are entitled to attend General Meetings. It shall not be necessary to hold a minimum number of shares in order to attend General Meetings.

2. Notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding paragraph, with regard to the right of attendance, shareholders must obtain the corresponding Attendance Card which will indicate the number of shares held and the number of votes the shareholder may cast on account of these shares.

3. The Attendance Card will be issued by the Company to shareholders who are entitled to attend the Meeting upon delivery to the Company or the entities it designates of the corresponding certificate of entitlement in their favour issued by the Entity or Body responsible for keeping the account recorded where the shares are registered, attesting to the registration of the shares in that shareholder's name with the advance notice referred to in point 1 above.

4. The Board of Directors may authorize the replacement of the Attendance Card by equivalent documents issued by other entities.

Article 19.- Representation at General Meetings

1. All shareholders entitled to attend meetings may be represented at General Meetings by another person or persons, whether or not they are shareholders, in respect of all his or her shares or each of the representatives in respect of a part thereof.

2. Representation will be conferred on a special basis for each General Meeting, either in writing and signed and send by post, e-mail or another remote means of communication recognized by the Company in accordance with the provisions of article 25 below for remote voting.

3. Special representation is not required for each Meeting in the case of a representative who can prove that he or she is the spouse, an ascendant or descendant of the represented shareholders, or in the case of the holder of a general power of attorney granted in a public document with faculties to administer all the represented shareholder's property in national territory.

Proof of such circumstances shall be provided by submitting documentation attesting sufficiently to the family relationship or by showing the public document.

4. Representation is always revocable. The attendance at the Meeting of the represented shareholder, whether in person or by virtue of having cast a vote remotely in accordance with article 25 below, entails revocation of any delegation, regardless of the date on which they were issued.

5. The Board of Directors may require, in the notice convening the General Meeting, that any delegations of representation of shareholders referred to in section 2 of this article be communicated to the Company by the fifth day prior to the date set for the General Meeting on first call, indicating the representative's name.

Article 20.- Public Solicitation Proxies

1. A public solicitation proxy shall be understood as having taken place whenever the same person, be he or she a director of the company, depositary entity or any third party, represents over three shareholders.

2. Any such proxy must contain, or have attached, the Agenda of the meeting as well as the request for instructions to exercise the right to vote and the way in which the proxy shall vote in the event of not having been issued with precise instructions.

The proxy can also contain the request for instructions and the indications which, either explicitly or tacitly, the representative must follow as regards other decisions that are not included in the Agenda, and which may be decided on in accordance with the rights of the General Meeting.

In the absence of any explicit or vicarious voting instructions, either because these have not been stipulated in the corresponding document, or because the General Meeting is going to decide on questions that do not legally have to be included in the Agenda, or have not been provided for in the proxy, the representative must vote in the manner he or she feels to most benefit his or her represented party's interests.

Although having received voting instructions, the representative party can vote in another way if circumstances arise that were unknown on sending the instructions, thus running the risk of damaging the represented party's interests.

3. Whoever represents shareholders by virtue of a public solicitation proxy cannot exercise the right to vote corresponding to the shares represented with respect to those items on the Agenda, or where appropriate, that do not figure in the Agenda but which are dealt with at the meeting in accordance with the law, in which the representative enters into a conflict of interests according to the law, unless he or she has received specific instructions from the represented party for each one of said items and without prejudice to the obligation to inform the represented shareholder of such a conflict of interests.

Article 21.- Place and time of the Meeting. Adjournments

1. The General Meetings will be held in the municipality where the company has its registered office, and it is the function of the Board of Directors, on the occasion of each notice of meeting, to decide within these parameters on the exact venue of the meeting. If the venue of the meeting is not indicated in the notice of meeting, it will be understood that the Meeting is to be held at the registered office.

2. A General Meeting may resolve to be extended over one or several consecutive days, at the proposal of the Board of Directors or of a number of shareholders representing at least one-quarter of the share capital in attendance. Regardless of the number of sessions in which the General Meeting is held, it will be considered to be a single Meeting and one set of Minutes will be drafted for all the sessions.

Article 22.- Panel of the General Meeting

1. General Meetings will be chaired by the Chairman of the Board of Directors or, if he is not present in person, by the Vice-Chairman of the Board. If several Vice-Chairmen are present at the meeting, it will be chaired by the corresponding person on the basis of priority of number.

2. If neither the Chairman nor any of the Vice-Chairmen are present, the General Meeting will be chaired by the shareholder present at the meeting who is the holder of the largest number of shares with voting rights.

3. The Chairman of the General Meeting will be assisted by the Secretary. The Secretary of the General Meeting will be the Secretary of the Board of Directors or, if he is not present in person, the Vice-Secretary. In the absence thereof, the person designated in each case by the Chairman of the General Meeting shall act as Secretary.

4. If the presence of a Notary Public has been demanded, the said Notary Public shall be deemed to be a member of the panel of the General Meeting.

Article 23.- List of those present

1. Before starting to deliberate on the Agenda, a list of those present shall be drawn up by the Secretary of the General Meeting, indicating the name of the shareholders present and the name of the shareholders represented and their representatives, as well as the number of shares in each case.

2. At the end of the list the number of shareholders present or representative will be determined, as well as the amount of the share capital held by them, specifying what corresponds to shareholders with voting rights.

3. The Chairman of the General Meeting may establish that the Secretary is to be assisted by two or more scrutineers in order to draw up the list of those present. The designation of the scrutineers lies with the Chairman.

4. If the list of those present does not appear at the start of the Minutes of the General Meeting, it will be attached thereto in an appendix signed by the Secretary, with the Chairman's approval, notwithstanding the provisions of article 98.2 of the Mercantile Registry Regulations.

5. The Chairman of the Meeting is empowered to determine the validity of the representation of the shareholders and to impose the suspension of the voting rights of those shareholders who have that status in breach of the legislation regulating public offers for the acquisition of shares.

Article 24.- Form of deliberation of General Meetings

1. Once the list of those present has been drawn up, the Chairman will declare the General Meeting to be valid, if appropriate, specifying whether the Meeting has sufficient quorum to deliberate on all the matters included in the agenda or, otherwise, which matters the General Meeting may deliberate and resolve on, indicating the order in which such matters have to be discussed.

2. The Chairman will submit the items included in the agenda to deliberation.

3. The Chairman of the General Meeting is responsible for granting or refusing the opportunity to address the meeting, establishing the order of the interventions and limiting at any time the maximum duration of each one, as well as for maintaining the general order of the meeting.

4. The Chairman may suspend the Meeting if the circumstances so advise.

5. Once the Chairman considers that a matter has been sufficiently debated, he will submit it to the vote.

6. The Chairman may authorize the attendance at the General Meeting of any person he considers appropriate.

Article 25.- Remote voting

1. Shareholders with the right to attend and vote at General Meetings may cast their vote on the proposals relating to the items on the agenda by post or e-mail. They may also use for this purpose other remote means of communication when the Regulations on the General Meeting or on the Board of Directors, in accordance with the rules established therein, so permit.

2. Postal votes will be cast by sending to the Company in accordance with article 18 above the Attendance Card, duly signed and completed for that purpose, or other written document (such as the General Meeting attendance cards issued by the security deposit entities) which the Board of Director decides to consider as Attendance Card for which purpose it shall be a requisite that such documents adequately guarantee the identity of the shareholder exercising his or her right to vote.

3. Votes by e-mail will be cast under recognized electronic signature or other identification system recognized by the Company from time to time.

4. The means and procedures for remote voting shall guarantee sufficiently the identity of the shareholder exercising the right to vote, his or her status as a lawful shareholder entitled to vote and the authenticity of the communication in which the content of his or her vote is expressed.

5. In order to be valid, votes cast through remote means of communication must be received by the Company by the fifth day prior to the date on which the General Meeting is to be held on first call.

The Board of Directors may reduce this term in the resolution convening the General Meeting in question, giving it the same publicity as is given to the notice convening the meeting.

6. Shareholders entitled to attend General Meetings who cast their votes remotely in accordance with the provisions of this article shall be considered present at the General Meeting and shall be counted as such for the purposes of determining whether the General Meeting has a quorum. If they had formalized a delegation of their representation, it shall be deemed void.

7. Votes cast using remote communication means shall be rendered null and void by the personal attendance at the General Meeting of the shareholder casting the vote.

8. The Board of Directors is empowered to establish the rules and means and procedures in accordance with the state of technology to instrument remote voting, complying, as the case may be, with any legal regulations that elaborate on this system. The rules, means and procedures will be published on the Company's website.

Article 26.- Form of passing resolutions

1. Each item of the Agenda will be put to the vote separately, in the manner decided by the Chairperson, by either roll call vote or secret ballot.

2. In any case, even if they are on the same item of the agenda, topics which are substantially independent will be voted on separately, specifically proposals concerning the appointment, ratification, re-appointment or removal of each director and, in the case of modifications to these Bylaws, each article or group of articles that are substantially independent, for example, a chapter dealing with homogeneous matter, or a set of articles regulating the same matter or several interdependent provisions will be voted on separately.

3. The Chairman of the Meeting is responsible for ordering the voting procedure and its form, and may be assisted for that purpose by two or more scrutineers freely designated by him.

Article 27.- Passing resolutions

1. Every share has one vote.

2. Resolutions will be passed by ordinary majority of the votes corresponding to the shares with voting rights present or represented, and will be deemed to have been adopted when more votes of the capital present or represented when the General Meeting is declared quorate are in favour than against.

For the valid adoption of the motions referred to in article 17.2 of these Bylaws, the motion must be adopted by absolute majority of the voting rights in attendance, whether present or by proxy.

Shareholders may not exercise the right to vote corresponding to their shares in the case of a motion that frees them from an obligation or grants them a right, provides them with any type of financial assistance, including the provision of guarantees in their favour, or dispenses with the obligations arising from the duty of loyalty.

The shares of a shareholder in any of the conflicts of interest detailed in the paragraph above will be deducted from the share capital to calculate the majority of votes required in each case.

3. Once a matter has been put to the vote, the Chairman will announce the result, declaring that the resolution has been validly passed, if that is the case.

Article 28.- Minutes and certificates

1. The minutes of the General Meeting will be drawn up by the Secretary, and will be approved by the Meeting upon conclusion or, within fifteen days, by the Chairman and two meeting officers, one representing the majority and the other representing the minority, as decided by the Chairman in light of the manner in which business was transacted. Once approved, the Minutes will be signed by the Secretary and countersigned by the Chairman. All the foregoing is notwithstanding the provisions of current regulations in the event that a notary public is engaged to attend and minute the meeting.

2. The Secretary of the company or, as the case may, be the Vice-Secretary, will issue certificates of the resolutions passed by the General Meeting. Any shareholder or their proxy at a General Meeting is entitled to request a certificate of the resolutions passed.

CHAPTER 2.- The governing body

Section 1 – General provisions

Article 29.- Structure of the governing body

1. The company will be managed by a Board of Directors, made up of a minimum of three and a maximum of eighteen members.

2. The General Meeting is responsible for determining the number of members of the Board, for which purpose it may establish that number by virtue of an express resolution or, indirectly, by filling vacancies or appointing new Directors within the maximum established in the preceding section.

3. In exercising its powers to propose appointments to the General Meeting and to co-opt to fill vacancies, the Board of Directors must strive to ensure that proprietary and independent directors represent an ample majority of the Board of Directors while the number of executive directors should be as small as is practical, bearing in mind the complexity of the corporate group and the executive directors' percentage of ownership.

The provisions of the previous paragraph do not affect the sovereignty of the General Meeting nor do they undermine the proportional system, which will be compulsory whenever there is a grouping of shares as envisaged in the law.

Directors will be classified as proprietary, independent, executive, or other external, in accordance with the law.

4. The Board of Directors will be governed by the provisions established in the Act, these Bylaws and a regulation setting out the rules of procedure, which will be approved by the Board and reported to the General Meeting. The Regulation will be reported to the National Securities Market Commission and registered in the Mercantile Registry.

Article 30.- Conditions for directors

1. In order to be appointed a director, it is not necessary to be a shareholder.

2. If vacancies arise during the term for which directors were appointed, the Board of Directors may designate persons to fill such vacancies until the next General Meeting is held. If a vacancy arises once the General Meeting is called and before it is held, the Board of Directors may appoint a director until the next General Meeting is held.

3. The appointment of directors will come into effect upon acceptance and must be submitted to the Mercantile Registry for registration within ten days following the date of such acceptance, indicating their full names and that they are of legal age, if they are natural persons, or the registered name, if they are legal persons and, in both cases, the address and nationality and category of director.

Article 31. – Term and remuneration

1. Directors will have a term of three years, and may be re-appointed one or more times.
2. Directors' remuneration will consist of a fixed annual amount for belonging to the Board of Directors and any committees of which the director is a member. The total remuneration payable by the Company to the directors as a whole for belonging to the Board of Directors and its committees will be the amount determined for this purpose by the General Meeting, and it will remain in force until amended; nevertheless, the Board of Directors may reduce that amount in any given year if it sees fit.

The Board of Directors is responsible for determining the exact remuneration within this limit and its distribution among the directors, having consideration for the functions and responsibilities of each director, whether they belong to Board committees, and other objective circumstances that it considers to be relevant.

3. Regardless of the provisions of the preceding paragraph, the remuneration for belonging to the Board of Directors will be compatible with any other remuneration (fixed salaries; variable remuneration tied to business, corporate and/or personal objectives; indemnities paid to the director for termination due to causes other than breach of duty; pension and insurance plans; deferred compensation) to which the director may be entitled, subject to a proposal by the Appointments and Remuneration Committee and a decision by the Board of Directors, for performing other functions in the company, whether related to senior management or otherwise, other than the collective supervision and decision-making functions that are inherent to the position of Board member.
4. Subject to a decision by the General Meeting with the scope required by law, executive directors may also be paid in the form of shares or stock options or by any other remuneration system referenced to the share price.
5. The company will have a Director Remuneration Policy that conforms to the remuneration system envisaged in these Bylaws and which must be approved by the General Meeting, at least every three years, as a separate item on the agenda. Any amendment or replacement of the Remuneration Policy will require prior approval by the General Meeting. Any remuneration received by directors for discharging their duties or for termination of their position, or for performing executive functions, except that expressly approved by the General Meeting, must be in coherence with the Remuneration Policy in force at any given time.
6. The company may arrange third-party liability insurance for its directors in the usual conditions, commensurate with the company's circumstances.

Article 32.- Duties of Directors

In the course of carrying out his duties, the director must act diligently as an orderly businessman and loyal representative, acting in good faith and in the best interests of the company. The duty of loyalty requires that he put the interests of the company before his own, and specifically, that he adhere to the rules set out in the applicable regulations

The Board Regulation will elaborate upon the specific obligations of directors, derived from the duties of diligence and loyalty in accordance with the law. To that end, it will pay particular attention to conflicts of interest, and may set out procedures and requirements for authorisation or exemption under the provisions of the applicable regulations. The authorisation must be approved by the Meeting when the objective is to grant exemption from a ban on obtaining an advantage or remuneration from third parties, from a non-compete clause with the company or for a transaction whose value exceeds ten per cent of the company's assets.

Section 2 – The Board of Directors

Article 33.- Officers of the Board of Directors

1. Following a report from the Appointments and Remuneration Committee, the Board of Directors will appoint its Chairman and, optionally, one or more Vice-Chairmen.
